Brainspotting is a powerful and effective approach to healing and wellness that harnesses the nervous system's ability to reorganize and realign itself, enhancing resilience and facilitating change. Discovered in 2003 by psychotherapist Dr. David Grand, Brainspotting accesses the brain-body's innate self-scanning and self-healing capacities in the context of neurobiological and relational attunement. In Brainspotting, a person's brain-body activation around a particular issue is paired with a relevant eye position, called a Brainspot that locates, processes and releases trauma, allowing the brain-body system to regain homeostasis.

Brainspotting was found to be the most effective therapy for treatment of trauma in adults in the 2016 Sandy Hook Community Report.

BSP Trainer: Katherine Allen, MA, LMFT was introduced to Brainspotting after the tragic Sandy Hook incident, where she is a local therapist. She is a Brainspotting Trainer and Certified Consultant, and has been a member of David Grand's private NY supervision group since 2013, She is also an approved Supervisor of Brainspotting, able to provide local ongoing support for those newly trained in Brainspotting. Katherine is a licensed Marriage & Family Therapist in both CT and NH. In 2008 she opened a private group practice in CT, MFT3, and in 2017 she opened a new private practice in Hanover, NH called kTherapy and Brainspotting with Katherine.
